

FOLLOWS TRAIL OF BURIED MASH

Itinerant Distillers Had Systematic Method of Hiding Supplies

STILL WAS ON VEHICLE

Moon-shine Unearthed by Following Up Marks on Saplings

MALESTER, March 29.—The latest and most elusive method operated by moonshiners, according to Sheriff W. S. Sanders and Enforcement Officer James Dowell of this city, are the traveling stills.

They are operated in a two-horse wagon or an automobile, and all the fixtures for manufacturing corn whiskey, except the mash, is carried in the vehicle. The mash is buried in various points along the creek banks and the cache carefully concealed. The wagon or car with the still is driven along on dark nights and when the moon is full, the still is set up and the mash is cooked. The still is then packed and the mash is carried off in a bushy area and its light "hidden under a bush" or a brushpile, the moonshiners transfer the mash and mash is a quantity of corn whiskey and on their way, leaving behind them no signs, save their footprints in the sands and the tracks of the wagon.

Sanders discovered one of these stills last week 13 miles south of here on Peaceable creek. To destroy the signs of fresh earth where the mash was buried, Sanders had been looking for the ground so that it was only by raking the ash that the sheriff discovered two barrels of mash buried beneath.

Sanders and his posse during the latter part of the week captured two stills near Hickory. These are said to have been the source of supply for the stills. In the raid 700 pounds of sugar was confiscated by the officers. One still was fished out of a pond 200 yards from the house. One Kinslow and Bill Eagle were arrested.

At one place a posthole digger had been used to bury the booze. Beside a sapling a hole would be dug and from two to four half-gallon fruit jars would be put into the hole and covered with leaves. On the sapling would be cut a notch for every jar buried. When Dowell got to it he followed the trail through the woods to the place where the notches on the tree would indicate just how many jars of liquor he would find buried beside it.

HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH? USE A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing, inflaming, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hacking, snuffing, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure. Advertisement.

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."—Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury St., St. Louis, Mo. Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner.

BIG FINES DUE TO UNCLE SAM

Wealthy Offenders Must Pay Enormous Sums to Federal Collector

Special to The World.

PONCA CITY, March 29.—Rumors became a reality here today for bootleggers of high degree, from a wealth standpoint, when a federal agent came to town, representing the internal revenue bureau, to collect fines imposed by that department which are in addition to whatever fines the offender may have paid in the courts. This is an account of a failure to take out a license to manufacture spirituous liquors.

In this connection it develops that not long ago a Ponca City bootlegger was assessed the usual $2,000 fine for not having a federal license to manufacture liquor, and it happens that this man has the money to pay will. A well-to-do bootlegger in Ponca City, said to be worth $5,000 and caught red-handed with the goods on him, has been fined $2,000, and there is said to be a record of $5,000 fine against one Oklahoma. The Ponca City man had a complete still, several gallons of mash and a lot of "corn."

Another Kay county man, living at Lawton, was recently fined $2,000 for not having a federal license to manufacture liquor, and it happens that this man has the money to pay will. A well-to-do bootlegger in Kay county, said to be worth $5,000 and caught red-handed with the goods on him, has been fined $2,000, and there is said to be a record of $5,000 fine against one Oklahoma. The Kay county man had a complete still, several gallons of mash and a lot of "corn."

CONFEDERATE VETERAN DIES

Related to Stand Watie Whom He Served Under During War.

PAW, March 29.—Information has reached here of the death of P. C. Jones, age 80, three miles west of Grove, "Uncle Ed" as he was familiarly called, was born in the old Cherokee nation of Georgia. He moved with his parents to what is now Delaware county in 1832, and lived near the present site of the Grand river bridge near Grove, where his father operated a ferry, which was used continuously until 1904, when the present bridge was built.

He cast his lot with the Confederacy and served during the war under Stand Watie, famous Cherokee general, who was a great uncle of the deceased. He was familiar with many incidents of the Civil war, and he frequently found himself the center of a group of citizens who enjoyed his thrilling accounts of Civil war times. He fought in the memorable battle of Pea Ridge, Wilson creek, Fort Wayne and Honey Springs.

Confident They Have Located Big Field Near McAlester.

MALESTER, March 29.—McAlester is laying claim to an oil field almost at its very gates. At least it has a standard until suddenly drilling about six miles north of the city near Hume. Enthusiasm has been manifested in leasing for oil purposes and a feeling of optimism seems to permeate the operations.

It has long been advocated that somewhere south of the Quinlan was that there is an oil pool and the present operations are confident that they have the correct location. W. A. Stephens of Bloomington, Iowa, and his associates have leased 2,500 acres in addition to their own tract upon which the well is being drilled.

RICKARD IS GLAD HE'S OUT OF JAIL

Promoter Will Keep Madison Garden and May Go to St. Louis

NEW YORK, March 29.—George Rickard, noted sports promoter, who was acquitted of charges of abduction and criminal assault on a 15-year-old girl after a sensational trial lasting several weeks, looked out of the window of his home today into bright, warm spring sunshine and remarked:

"It feels mighty good to be out." Rickard has been a prisoner in the Tombs prison during the course of his trial.

Rickard was asked if he was going after his acquittal why are alleged by his friends to have "framed up" the case against him.

The sporting promoter was silent for a moment and then replied: "I will not say anything on that subject." Rickard is going to stick in the sporting game. He intends to keep Madison Square Garden, he said.

and all the rest of his sporting interests. "I am going to look into the proposition of acquiring the Coliseum in St. Louis," he said. "I may take it and I may not. It all depends upon the prospects."

There is still a possibility that Rickard may again face trial on one of the three remaining indictments against him, alleging offenses against young girls.
